

Abstract

Schottky diode which is resistant to overcurrent and has a low reverse current

The invention relates to a Schottky diode in which p-doped regions (4, 5) are incorporated in the Schottky contact area. At least one (5) of these regions (4, 5) has a greater minimum extent, in order to initiate a starting current.

(Fig. 1)